Mr. Boone Peake,
New Haven, Kentucky.

My dear Boone:

I have just learned of your great sorrow in the loss of your boy. I know that there is nothing that I can say that will in any way alleviate your suffering.

However, I want you to know that I have thought of you in this sorrow; and that I sincerely trust that the passage of time will show you that your boy's death was not in vain; and that it helped to preserve and make a better world.

Very truly yours,

Ernest N. Fulton
